Dear Sirs,

There is no need for any road moving, Thank you.

Likewise there was no need for the misplaced car meters, the proposed lights, the leisure centre which will lose money hand over fist, or a tarmac car park to serve people who aren't even local.

Those folk buying second homes built for wealthy Londoners are quite capable of crossing the existing road that serves all the locals well enough. We are not a country with private beaches and I do not see why they should stop us from equal access to the beach which has been open to all who live in Seabrook.

This whole development is creating a great loss to any visitor, weekend fisherman or local who appreciated what Mother nature has so beautifully done to a piece of wasteland - the only open stretch of land next to the sea and Canal in the whole of the overdeveloped south east.

So there!!!!

Thanks
