Dear Sirs,

I am writing to OBJECT bitterly to this plan. IF the council were to give themselves planning permission there would be no need to move the road as the houses could be accessed directly from this road.

I request that the 'stopping up' be seen by the Secretary of State at the same time as the planning permission so that he can see exactly how much damage this whole idea is going to cause to the national monument known as Royal Military Canal, in Hythe, Kent.

I live in Hythe and use this road daily. The closure of it would have a vast impact on my and other people's lives. The main road through to Folkestone is already a busy one and the closure of Princes Parade would put even more pressure on this road. Folkestone & Hythe District council (formerly Shepway DC, and they have just spent thousands of pounds on changing their name!!) have just installed parking meters along this stretch of road.

That, in itself, was a farce as they first placed them on one side of the road then realised how unsafe it was so moved them to the other side. These have been in operation for exactly 11 days so far proving that there is a total lack of financial planning, coordination and planning that the council have applied to this whole project.

I am hoping you read this and take note as I personally would be devastated to see so much wildlife flee the area IF large lorries started digging away at this land.

Yours faithfully
Susan Parker
