I am emailing you regarding the re-routing of Princes parade in Hythe, Kent.

WHY? Why do they feel it is necessary to re-route this perfectly good road. The distance will be less than a football pitch. The plot of land required to build these so called "Affordable" houses is going to be the same whether the road is in front or behind them.

Hence I can only think the reason for re-routing this road is so that the new residents won't have the noise of a road and happy children on the beach directly in front of them or under their balconies.

The Developers obviously want the best return for their posh new development and have no thought for the Council Tax payers of Shepway who will end up paying for having a pleasure taken away from them. Is there a clash of interest between the Developers and the Council, I ask myself????

Thank you. Geraldine Westcob
